Note from Mr. Jon...

♥CoCreative Music is my contribution toward a sustainable world. To me, music is like farming. It takes a community of people to get things flowing and growing from the ground up. As we nourish ourselves with the fruits of nature's harmony, we express that harmony through music, dance and other forms of art. The human body seems to have been designed for music—clapping, stomping, clicking, snapping, taping, singing, beat boxing and dancing. Sometimes we forget how powerful an impact we can make on one another—sorta like ripples in a pond. When we co create consciously together, particularly in music we are actually creating microcosm of peace on earth. Please send me an e-mail if you like via my web site www.cocreativemusic.com
